

NEW AND BRIEF.

The city police made ninety arrests in April. Misses Clara McGee and Hattie Nye are visiting friends at Moravia. Sheriff Mead has appointed A. A. Thayer of Cato, a deputy sheriff. During April, the mail carriers collected $2,516 pieces and delivered 198,809. Two schooners cleared from Fair Haven to Chicago Wednesday with 1,160 tons of coal. The date fixed for the Northern Cayuga Agricultural Society's next annual fair is Sept. 27, 28, 29, 30. The monthly bulletin from the State Board of Health puts Auburn's death rate at 16.60 per 1,000 of population. Arrangements have been perfected by the Board of Trade for the removal of a Scotch cap factory from Utica to Auburn. Emigrants, fresh from across the waters, arrive in Auburn by nearly every train. A whole family came this morning. In Surrogate's court Saturday inventories were filed in the estates of the late Geo. A. Whitman, of Genoa, and Merritt Butler of Scipio. An Auburn ice dealer says that his customers can readily ascertain whether they are being cheated or not when they know that a cubic foot of ice weighs from 57 to 60 pounds. Gen. Andrew J. Alexander.

THE TWO JOHNS GO OUT

JOHN JOHNSON AND JOHN HENDERSON AS FURNISHING BURGLARS.

THE DARING ESCAPE FROM AUBURN PRISON ACCOMPLISHED EARLY IN THE EVENING OF LAST TUESDAY.

With the confidence of shepherds who have safely folded all their sheep, Auburn prison officials on duty Tuesday night took up their accustomed routine and those who were temporarily relieved strolled off to enjoy the beauties of a model spring evening. The confidence and the routine, however, were both destined to receive a shock and it came very early. William Finley, a boy, brought the disturbing intelligence, which was to the effect that two sheep had probably got loose from the fold and were wandering out in the wide world. The boy had seen and followed a suspicious looking fellow who sneaked up through Water, North and South streets and behind the Second Presbyterian church. Thence he went to Lincoln street. He seemed to be clumsily dressed in a sort of overalls and wore a strange cap. The boy called Harry Dayton's attention to the fellow in South street and the pair shadowed the man until they lost him when the boy ran to the prison. He arrived at the institution just in time to see a man drop from the wall into State street and slip across into the Central Hudson yard. The boy gave the alarm and Night Captain Michael Boyle came out and joined him in a chase which proved fruitless, the convict being lost around a lumber pile near Van Allen street. Meanwhile there was an investigation going on inside the walls and it was discovered that two men were missing from the north wing extension, fifth gallery north. The men were John J. Henderson and John Johnson and they were Sing Sing transfers who had occupied cells next door to each other. After finding who were out, it was easily ascertained how they got out, for there was a big hole in the top of Henderson's cell to speak for itself. The hole had been dug out over the door and extended so little into the cell that it could only be seen from inside. It had been dug through about three feet of masonry and made a passage way big enough for a human rat to climb through into the attic. The stones and plaster taken out had been wrapped in paper and hidden in the bedding on the prisoner's cot. The digging was quite a local undertaking and must have occupied a number of days. Both convicts were idle, however, and had plenty of time to devote to the work. Johnson's cell was east of Henderson's and through the brick partition another hole had been dug, thus transforming the simple cells into a double room with easy communication. The passage way was concealed by blankets and papers. It is probable that the men were aided by turns on the job, one occupying the other's cell so as to have somebody in each and thus avoid suspicion.

Once in the attic, the rest was easy. Out through a scuttle, off from the roof to the inside wall, thence to the shed just south of the north gate, and then off from the front wall into State street, about half way between Wall street and the front gate. Henderson probably made his exit first and was the man seen in South street. Johnson followed after a reasonable interval and was the man lost in the railway yard. Major Boyle was called as soon as the escapes were discovered and all the available men of the prison force were summoned and sent off to scour the vicinity; but no further trace of the men was discovered during the night, except that shortly after 12 o'clock some of the searchers believed they were close upon one of the men who seemed to be bewildered and uncertain where to go.

THE MEN. As has been noted above, the escapers were both Sing Sing transfers and they are also well known and expert criminals. Circulars describing them have been sent out, with offers of the usual reward. Henderson was serving seven years for grand larceny, committed in New York, and has previously served five years in Sing Sing on two sentences and a term of two years on Blackwell's Island. He was discharged from Auburn only last August and reappeared in the Sing Sing draft which came to Auburn January 13, 1887. He has eight months commutation to lose on his previous term, owing to his early return. He is described as follows: Age 32, height 5 feet 3-4 inches, weight 139 pounds, brown hair, gray eyes, scar in left eyebrow, two scars on the head and a star on the right arm. Johnson came to Auburn with Henderson, but has a longer record. He also has eight months of short time on a previous sentence. He was sentenced in Brooklyn to serve ten years for burglary, and five years for grand larceny. He has served two terms in Sing Sing, one in Clinton and one in the Kings county penitentiary. His description is this: Age 42, height 5 feet 7-8 inches, weight 155 pounds, gray hair, gray eyes, dark complexion, large scar on right side of the head, right leg and ankle fractured, scar near the spine, from a shot wound. The escapers were made before nine o'clock and hid for the boy, Finley, would have remained undiscovered until the guards made their "balls eye" tour and count at 10:30. As it was the alarm was given soon after 9. No guards were put on the walls, as the men were known from the first to be outside.

GETTING RIGHT TO WORK. With morning came the intelligence that the escapers, once outside the walls, got early to work at their regular calling. There was an attempt at burglary in Bennett before midnight and at about 1 a. m. the house of Jacob Wyant, at Skaneateles Junction, was entered. The burglar walked right into the bedroom of the Wyants and was evidently after some clothing; unfortunately for him Mrs. Wyant awoke and saw him in the room. He was then in his prison garb. The woman aroused her husband, who sprang out of bed and in his state of dishevelment chased the burglar up to the depot, where he was lost. The fellow had, it was afterward discovered, obtained from the house some cake and two dozen eggs, which fact gives assurance that he has not been starving. Word of the Skaneateles burglary was wired to the prison officers and by them reported to the Syracuse police. The burglar left a knife behind him at the Wyant house. A little girl of three years, noticing the lightning for the first time, came rushing to her mother crying: "Oh, mamma did you see the sun flying by?"—Chicago Living Church.

Robbing a Millionaire.

A piece of sneak-thief burglary was perpetrated last night at the residence of Frank J. Stupp, orderly sergeant and armorer of the Wheeler Rifles, No. 33 Holley street. The thief entered the house through an upper window, which he reached by climbing up the grape arbor and thus to the kitchen roof. The lower part of the window he took out, not being able to raise it. Then he went down the stairs to the sergeant's bedroom, where a light was burning; but he is believed not to have entered the room. He seems simply to have reached in from the doorway and pulled out Mr. Stupp's vest and pants, rifling the pockets of the latter and taking the vest with him. The pants were found on the sitting room floor this morning. Besides the vest, the thief got a silver watch and chain and $42 in money. He also took the roll call book of the Rifles.

The W. C. T. U. at Cato.

The county convention of the W. C. T. U. at the Disciples church, Cato, held its session last week. The delegates were met at the depot Wednesday morning, by Rev. Willie Latrop and Mrs. Julia Dutton, vice president of the Cato union, who conducted them to the church parlors where dinner was served. The convention opened at 2 p. m., with devotional exercises, conducted by Mrs. McKeel, of Poplar Ridge, Mrs. Bates and Mrs. Boyce of Auburn and Mrs. Adams, of Moravia. The address of welcome was made by Mrs. Anna M. Groot, of Cato and was responded to by Mrs. Rogers, of Weedsport. Reports were read by Mrs. E. Hoxie, Miss Manchester, Mrs. Ball, Mrs. Towneend, Misses Day, Walker and others. Miss Edith Groot sang "Rock me to Sleep, Mother," in a manner to move the audience to tears. Other vocal selections were rendered by little Edna Petty and the quartette. Mrs. L. M. Boyce delivered an instructive address, general remarks were indulged in and a recess was taken till evening. At the evening session Mrs. Bates, of Auburn, and Mrs. Adams, of Moravia, conducted the devotional exercises. Select readings were given by Rev. John Willard, Miss Florence Walker, of Moravia, Miss Laura Smith of the same village, Miss and addresses were delivered by Mrs. Jennie Pearson, Reverend Mr. Latrop and Rev. Mr. Butman. Thursday's meeting was devoted to the discussion of various department work and listening to the report of the committee on resolutions. Mrs. Brigrion and Mrs. Adams. The convention then adjourned sine die. The large attendance and manifestation of enthusiasm indicate that the W. C. T. U. has secured a strong foothold in Cayuga Co. and that it will make its impress on the morals of this community.

Lester L. Mann.

HE IS SUPPOSED TO BE DROWNED IN CAYUGA LAKE. The AUBURNIAN yesterday received the following telegram from Cayuga: "L. C. Mann, of Auburn, is supposed to have been drowned here yesterday. A boat hired by him then was found to-day a half mile south, upside down, with his hat under the boat." A reporter called at the residence of Mr. Mann's son, Henry C., and was informed by Mrs. Mann that her father-in-law left his office Wednesday morning, stating his intention of going to Cayuga and thence to Bill's Grove, which is across the lake, on business. He left the office in charge of his grandson, Howard, who, she said, remarked that his grandfather acted very strangely, and before he left he took his bank and check books. Mrs. Mann had heard nothing since then and her husband, who returned from a trip to Utica yesterday afternoon, became alarmed at his father's absence, and this morning, drove to Cayuga. The reporter told her of the above message from that village, and she expressed surprise saying that if her father-in-law had gone out on the lake in a boat he was certainly out of his head, as she never heard of his doing such a thing. The old man had been unusually restless and nervous yesterday. Howard Mann, when shown the telegram, started at once for Cayuga.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

A Wife Murderer.

BLOOMINGTON, Ills., May 5.—A letter from Texarkana, Texas, states that M. D. McLean, formerly of this county is now in jail there for wife murder. About two years ago he married in Bowie county a wealthy widow with several children. It seems McLean became dissolute and a spendthrift and his wife refused to furnish him money. To extort money from her he would hold his step children over the fire until they were severely burned and commit other equally inhuman deeds. About a week ago he requested money and was refused, whereupon he beat and cut his wife so severely that she died from her injuries. The murderer was arrested and it was necessary to take him to Texarkana to prevent his being lynched.

The Sweetest Girl in School.

"She's the sweetest girl in school!" enthusiastically exclaimed one young miss to another, as they passed down the street together. "Edith is so kind, and gentle, and unselfish, every one likes her. And she has lovely golden hair and pretty eyes. Isn't it a pity her complexion is so bad; it spoils her looks. And then she has such dreadful headaches!" The girls skipped along, but it happened Edith's mother had heard what they said. It set her thinking. What could be done for those headaches and the rough, muddy complexion, that was such a trial to her gentle daughter. She recalled that she had read of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and on the spur of the moment she slipped into a drug store and bought a supply. Edith took it faithfully, with the result that it cleared her disordered blood, relieved the headaches, made her skin soft, fair and rosy, and now she is not only the "sweetest girl in school," but the most beautiful.

A Week of courtng.

WHAT JUDGE MACOMBER AND OTHERS HAVE DONE IN IT.

The case of Edward H. Avery against J. Warren Mead, as sheriff, occupied the attention of the Supreme Court Monday afternoon and the jury retired about 10 a. m. Tuesday. Shortly before noon the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff, giving the assessed valuation of the goods involved at $1,515 72.

The case is the outcome of the fore closure of the chattle mortgages some three months ago on the stock of H. J. Brock, the State street shoe manufacturer, held by Mr. Avery. A Rochester shoe manufacturer named Ross of whom part of the goods were purchased, replenished the stock and since that time it has been in the hands of the Sheriff. Mr. Avery's claim amounts to $1,440 and costs and the Ross claim amounts to over $900. A notice of appeal was given and the usual sixty days allowed for filing the same.

The case of Charles L. George vs. Jennie M. Pierson was called and after a satisfactory jury had been obtained an adjournment was taken to 2 p. m.

The suit is an action to recover $225 deposited in the Cayuga County Savings bank, which the plaintiff alleges was the property of his deceased wife, and that she, just previous to her death, asked said Jennie E. Pearson, her sister-in-law, to give to the plaintiff the money, which was in her trunk. Mrs. Pearson claims that $25 of the said deposit was hers personally and the remaining $200 a part of the estate of the deceased, of which Mrs. Pearson is the ad. instatrix.

On the opening of court, after the noon recess, Nos. 40, 41 and 47 were put over the term. H. V. Howland for Mrs. Pearson, argued a demurrer, alleging that the complaint was insufficient and he cited cases to sustain his position and moved that the case be dismissed and the costs charged to the plaintiff. Messrs. Aiken and Payne of the counsel for Dr. George opposed the motion and cited cases which they claimed were exactly similar.

The court granted the motion to dismiss the complaint on the ground that there was not sufficient evidence of gift.

Parker & Co. on the first of February last were brought into court this afternoon and John, the elder, 13 years of age, pleaded guilty and was sent to the Rochester Industrial School, while Henry, his younger brother, was discharged with the reprimand of the court. An adjournment sine die was then had.

The Army at a Banquet.

The Salvation Army closed with a banquet and jubilee meeting, Tuesday evening special services which have been in progress for a number of days at the barracks in Franklin street. Gen. Moore and his son were present, also Capt. Crockett of Newark and Lieut. Greenwood of Baldwinsville. The meeting was well attended and was made especially enthusiastic by a celebration of what the Army people term their victory in the matter of street privileges in Rochester.

Expected Startling Disclosures.

New York, May 5.—A New Orleans special to the Sun says that Madison Wells, president of the returning board which figured so prominently in the Presidential election of 1876, is to bring suit against A. S. Badger, chairman of the Republican State committee, which promises to reveal some important political secrets. Wells claims that it was due to his "grip" alone that Mr. Hayes was made President. Governor Kellogg recognized this and as a reward for his services Wells was promised the tax collectorship of the fourth district then held by General Badger. But Badger wanted to hold on and as a compromise an agreement was drawn up by Governor Kellogg and signed by Gen. Badger, by which Mr. Wells was to receive half the profits of the office of tax collector, amounting to $50,000 a year. He has never received a cent of the money and as amicable means have failed he proposes to try the courts. Wells is mad and threatens to make things lively for Badger. The General denies the whole story.
