CHOPS AND SISSIGES.

Recorder Clark had two cases to dispose of this morning. David Shaw, "three-fingered Dave," was arrested yesterday afternoon by Officer Graney. About 5 o'clock a telephone message was received from Mrs. William H. Seward, jr., at the corner of Westlake avenue and Court street, that a man was in the house.

Chief MacMaster sent Officer Graney to the house and after he left another message was received. When Officer Graney reached the house the man had just gone, but he was still in sight, and the officer started after him. The man did not try very hard to escape arrest and when the officer called to him to stop he did so. The man was David Shaw. He was intoxicated, and his pockets were filled with the lamb chops and link sausage. He had gone into the house and, seeing a chance to abscond with the above mentioned meat, did so.

Shaw nodded his head and said he guessed he had taken them. Then he raised up from his chair, looked at the aforementioned chops and sausages, said, "Whew," "phaw" (no joke) and "gracious" and Recorder Clark said, "Ninety days." "Ninety days?" queried Shaw. "Ninety days," repeated the recorder.

A smile appeared on Shaw's face as Officer Graney led him back to a cell. George Oobock, who has been arrested before, was charged with public intoxication in Genesee street, on complaint of E. J. Wright, of East Genesee street. Oobock had a talk with a woman he lived with, whom he claimed was not his wife. He pleaded not guilty, then said he was guilty and again said he had been drinking but was able to take care of himself. He was remanded for sentence.

Oobock was arraigned later this morning and sentenced to spend the next 60 days in jail. Morrison Jackson, colored, was convicted of assaulting Philip Gaskin, also of dusky hue, in the third degree, this morning and the recorder imposed a sentence of $10 fine or 10 days in jail. Jackson paid the fine.

FORD APPEALS. Napoleon B. Ford filed notice of appeal with City Judge Hart to-day in his suit against Healy Bros. Ford sued Healy Bros. for $12.75 in city court for work done in testing oil for the firm. Rich & Alken appeared for the defendant at the time the suit was brought up and claimed the court had no jurisdiction in the case as the County court had given a ruling on the same question in another suit of N. B. Ford's against the New York Central railroad for services. The point raised was well taken and Judge Hart dismissed the complaint. Now Ford will appeal his case to the County court.

The Home of the Hot Devils.

The greatest natural wonder in Java, if not in the entire world, is the justly celebrated Gueko Kamdha Gunko, or "home of the hot devils," known to the world as the Island of Fire. This geological eccentricity is really a lake of boiling mud, situated at about the center of the plains of Grobogan, and is called an island because of the great emerald sea of vegetation which surrounds it and gives it that appearance. The "island" is about two miles in circumference and is situated at a distance of almost exactly 50 miles from Solo. Near the center of this geological freak immense columns of soft, hot mud may be seen continually rising and falling like great timbers thrust through the boiling substratum by giant hands and then quickly withdrawn.

Besides the phenomenon of the boiling mud columns there are scores of gigantic bubbles of hot steam that fill up like huge balloons and keep up a series of constant explosions, the intensity of the detonations varying with the size of the bubble. In times past, so the Javanese authorities say, there was a tall spirillo column of baked mud on the west edge of the lake, which constantly belched a pure stream of cold water, but this has long been obliterated, and everything is now a seething mass of bubbling mud and slime, a marvel to the visitors who come from long distances to see it.

Weighing an Elephant. An Indian writer relates an interesting anecdote concerning Shahjee, the father of the first ruling prince of Madras of Hindustan, who lived at about the beginning of the seventeenth century. On one occasion a certain high official made a vow that he would distribute to the poor the weight of his own elephant in silver money, but the great difficulty that at first presented itself was the mode of ascertaining what this weight really was, and all the learned and clever men of the court seem to have endeavored in vain to construct a machine of sufficient power to weigh the elephant. At length it is said that Shahjee came forward and suggested a plan which was simple and yet ingenious in the highest degree. He caused the unwieldy animal to be conducted along a stage, specially made for the purpose by the water side, into a flat bottomed boat and then having marked on the boat the height to which the water reached after the elephant had weighed it down the latter was taken out and stones substituted in sufficient quantity to load the boat to the same line. The stones were then taken to the scales, and thus, to the amazement of the court, was ascertained the true weight of the elephant.—Animal Friends.

But Little Danger From Lightning. Writing on "The Needless Fear of Lightning," Edward W. Bok, in The Ladies' Home Journal, says that "it will doubtless surprise the timid to know that only 200 deaths a year occur on an average throughout this entire country from lightning, or one person in every 320,000 people. Now, in comparison, 16 times as many people are killed each year by falling out of windows, over twice as many from being bitten by rattlesnakes, while 35 per cent more are killed with 'unloaded' pistols. More people are drowned around New York city alone every year than there are deaths from lightning all over the country. In fact, more people by 50 per cent are killed by being kicked by horses in New York city than die from lightning throughout the whole of the United States. The casualties of the south show the dangers of being lynched and of being killed by lightning are about the same. The trolley cars of our cities kill a far greater number of people than do the lightning storms. Now, these are facts. They are strictly accurate and carefully computed."

FOR A RECIPROCITY TREATY.

Stops Taken to Bring About One Between This Country and Canada. WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Definite arrangements have been made for taking up the subject of a reciprocity treaty between the United States and Canada and to this end meetings have been fixed between Hon. John A. Kasson, who is specially delegated by President McKinley to conduct reciprocity negotiations, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian premier, and Sir Louis Davies, minister of marine. This is the result of the long and friendly conference held between Secretary Sherman and Sir Wilfrid. The meeting will be held during the present visit of the Canadian officials, but no exact time for it has yet been fixed.

It is not expected that the reciprocity treaty itself can be matured during the present visit of the Canadian officials, the desire being to arrive at some common understanding at this time and then perfect the details later. The dinner at the White House last night assisted toward a friendly settlement of pending questions. At its conclusion the guests accompanied the President and his Cabinet advisors to the Blue room, where a wholly informal exchange of views occurred. The general sentiment prevailed that the present time was opportune for more cordial intercourse between this country and Canada.

PLAYED THE BADGER GAME. Two Women Arrested in New York and a Man Named Schenck Is Wanted. NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Annie Eagan, alias Gertrude Allen, alias Schenck, and Georgia Lewis, both young women, were arrested last night at their homes, 310 West 33rd street. They are accused of playing the badger game in Saratoga during the past summer. A man named Lyons is said to have lost $1,200.

The Eagan woman was arrested last year on a charge of having stolen silverware from the Hotel Imperial. She was discharged. With her lover, Pete Schenck, she went to Saratoga, where they opened a badger game in a house on Broadway near the Grand Union hotel. The Lewis woman was with them. They were accused of cheating Lyons and were arrested.

They skipped their bail and Schenck is supposed to be in Boston. Detective Costello, of the Saratoga police, is here and will be given charge of the prisoners.
