

City and County.

The death of Col. A. J. Salsbury, formerly Agent and Warden of Auburn prison, occurred at Syracuse on Thursday. The funeral takes place at Plymouth Church this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The annual River and Harbor Appropriation Bill as fixed in committee, gives $15,000 to Little Solus Bay, the same amount as last year, and $15,000 to Great Solus Bay, which last year had nothing.

It is rumored that the Excise Board have determined to put a higher price upon license than has heretofore been charged, and instead of from twenty-five dollars, and ranging up to sixty, will require hotel keepers to pay two hundred, and store keepers one hundred or one hundred and twenty five dollars.

Next week should be prolific in news of local interest. On Monday the Grand Jury sits with the opening of Court. The Common Council holds its first regular meeting for the month, the Board of Excise will solve some of the questions as to who will obtain license, and on Tuesday evening the Board of Education convenes.

The Excise Commissioners have revoked the licenses of George Erhart, and Mary Vale for selling liquors to minors.

The Board was engaged last evening in investigating the charge against Mary Devitt, of keeping her saloon open on Sunday, and have several other complaints—one against Louis Schewe, on Market street.

NEPTUNE HOSE.—A meeting of Neptune Hose Company 1, is called for this evening, at 7 o'clock. By order of Foreman.

UNION HOSE 5.—A meeting of this company is called for Saturday, at 6 o'clock P. M., to arrange for attending the funeral of ex-Foreman Henry Fowler. By order of Foreman.

STODDART.—The great comedian, accompanied by Miss Ione Burke and the other favorites, under the popular management of Messrs. Ringgold & Bockwell, will give an entertainment on Wednesday evening next, at the Opera House. The programme will consist of Craven's comedy of "The Secret Marriage," in which Mr. Stoddart will play Joe Spurr, a character admirably suited to him, and the comedy of "Americans in Paris," in which he will also appear. He will be assisted in each by noted members of various companies.

PERSONAL.—Our young former townsmen, Mr. Dell E. Clapp, arrived in New York on Wednesday, by steamer "Egypt," from his extended tour of Europe, in which he has spent nearly a year, visiting the principal points of interest and acquiring proficiency in the languages. After paying a flying visit to Hartford, Conn., where he is engaged on the editorial corps of the Courant, Mr. Clapp returned to this city with his father, E. D. Clapp, Esq., and family, who were present in New York to welcome him home. Mr. Clapp has benefited in health and vigor by his tour, and will undoubtedly resume his newspaper duties with renewed vigor, after a few days spent here with his friends.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. Henry Fowler, residing on Division street, died suddenly on his wagon yesterday morning, at about half past 8 o'clock, while driving out of Ald. F. B. Garrett's stone yard. He had been joking and laughing with those present, and appeared in the best of health and spirits. After starting up his team, with a load of stone, he was seen to fall back, and when Mr. Martin Eddy ran to the spot, he was found to be lifeless, breathing but two or three gasps before life was extinct. The body was at once removed to the house of Mr. Eddy, near by, and physicians and family were summoned. A post mortem examination resulted in a verdict by the coroner's jury, that death was caused by a rupture of the right auricle of the heart. Mr. Fowler leaves a wife and three children. He was long an active fireman, a good citizen, and a member of the Order of Rechabites. His funeral will be attended by the Tent, and delegations from the Fire Department, on Sunday, 3 P. M., at the First M. E. Church.

For the Auburn Morning News. Grumbling at Cold Weather.

It's snowing, it's blowing; God put the birds; We wish we had power To cheer them with words. Yes, birds, good morning; Hop in, take a seat; And sing of your sorrows While warming your feet. A little you hasty— You should not have come; For April's too chilly To hunt for a home. A frog has just left, sir, And also a snake; Each weeping as though, sir, It's heart it would break. The geese and the chickens Have huddled together, To huddle with Nature To find a better weather. The hobble he tells us He's going to parade; And join with the geese To form a crusade. With the ducks in gravel, Next Thursday you'll find A day of thanksgiving To cheer up your mind. So take for example The patience of Job, Its weight of contentment That lightens a load. Miss Carry, I thank you; To scramble, it's wrong; And now that I'm warm, Miss, I'll sing you a song. Though earth may be spread With a carpet of white, The sun is soon coming To cheer with delight. Miss Carry, good bye; You've warmed the soles; When Nature admonish, To suit your lower. April 28, 1874.

A Curious Case.

WALTZ CONFESSES TO A MURDER THAT PROBABLY WAS NEVER COMMITTED.

Probably one of the causes celebres in the annals of crime is the case of Joseph Waltz, who was hanged at Catskill, yesterday, for the murder of Herman Hulcher, a scissor-grinder, last year.

He has confessed to having committed a murder, of which more proof than has at present been adduced will be required to substantiate his assertion, and after making such statement, winds up his bloody career by killing his keeper.

There seems to have been no apparent cause for his crimes, and, probably, like the "Chourineur," felt impelled to kill, at certain times, when his eyes were filled with blood.

It will be remembered that he stated a few days ago that he murdered an organ-grinder on his farm about three years since. At an early hour Tuesday morning Waltz was taken to the scene of the murder of Hulcher, of which he was convicted, to make the promised revelations. The Hudson Star says:

Arrived at the farm, business was immediately proceeded with, and Waltz led the party to the spot where he claimed he had buried the organ-grinder, but the place was covered with water to that extent that it was decided not to move the ground, but the place was marked so that there would be no trouble to find it on a future visit. This was at the north end of the farm, and the condemned positively asserted that the body would be found there.

A visit was then made to what he called the "new barn," which was looked over, but no extended search made, and nothing was found. The party then proceeded to the woods, located at the south side of the farm where Waltz pointed out a spot and said he had buried articles. True enough the examination revealed the fact that he had told the truth, as the following articles were discovered: An oil can, a small hammer, small pieces of wood painted green, a small shaft, three brass journals, brass lock, a round box filled with rivets, screws and rings, pieces of iron, a bundle of leather straps, and a tin box.

These articles Joe claimed to have belonged to the organ grinder, but, as the intelligent reader will at once perceive by carefully noting the character of the articles, there is no doubt but that they are a portion of the effects of Herman Hulcher, the scissor grinder, and such is the opinion of gentlemen with whom we conversed at Catskill last evening.

After the above enumerated articles were found, Waltz led the party to a stone wall, where he gave directions, and a piece of iron and part of a machine of some kind was found. Next he proceeded to the orchard, north of the lot where Hulcher was buried. The condemned man halted at a small pear tree and remarked, "dig up that tree and you will find something under it," and the work was commenced, the sister of Waltz being present, who took occasion to remark, "Joseph, this is the place where an old apple tree rotted down, and you will not find anything here." He said to the party: "Never mind; keep right on digging and you'll find something."

Under the tree was found a wheel, the spokes and fellos being broken. This was painted green and it will be distinctly remembered by our readers, no doubt, that the machine owned by Hulcher was of that color. There was also found under the tree a part of a handkerchief and a small sponge. The investigation being thus concluded, Waltz led the party to a spot about twenty feet from where Hulcher's body was found and said, "Dig here," which was done, and soon a pair of black pants with a pair of suspenders buttoned thereto, part of a vest and a quantity of feathers were found.

The pants were in a good state of preservation, which would not have been the case if they had been buried in the ground three years, thus disproving the theory that they belonged to an organ-grinder who had been killed that length of time. It will no doubt be ascertained from the family of Hulcher that the clothing and other articles belonged to him.

The search being concluded, the party returned to Catskill and Waltz was again placed in his cell, from which he will probably not emerge until he is led out to be executed.

TO THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.—Foremen of the various Fire Companies are requested to call a meeting to make arrangements for attending the funeral of ex-Foreman Henry Fowler, of Hose 5, which services will be held on Sunday at 3 o'clock P. M., in the First M. E. church. Firemen will assemble at 1 P. M. on Sunday, at the house of Hose 5, with belts and gloves. By order, J. H. MORRIS, Chief Engineer.

A Wrong Custom Corrected.

It is quite generally the custom to take strong liver stimulants for the cure of liver complaint, and both the mineral and vegetable kingdoms have been diligently searched to procure the most drastic and poisonous purgatives, in order to procure a powerful effect upon the liver, and arouse the lagging and encumbered organ. This system of treatment is on the same principle as that of giving a weak and debilitated man large portions of brandy to enable him to do a certain amount of work. When the stimulant is withheld, the organ, like the system, gradually relapses into a more torpid or sluggish and weakened condition than before. What then is wanted? Medicines, that while they cause the bile to flow freely from the liver, as that organ is toned into action, will not overwork and thus debilitate it, but will, when their use is discontinued, leave the liver strengthened and healthy.

WORKS WONDERS. BERGEN, Genesee Co., N. Y., March 23, 1874.

DR. R. V. PIRACE: Dear Sir—Your treatment of my case has been quite successful and satisfactory, and for which I desire to express my gratitude. I have been troubled with a disordered liver and Catarrh and general weakness for a good many years, and was failing slowly all the time, and last August I called on you and got some of your Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and one of your Nasal Injectors, and since that time I have been improving and am now better than I have been in years, not having had the sick headache in months, which I used to have to average once a week, the Golden Medical Discovery being the principal medicine used. It has worked wonders in my case, and I recommend it to those similarly afflicted. Let me express gratitude to you for such invaluable services. Truly and gratefully yours, Wm. F. CRITTENDEN. apr27nmw&tdt

DON'T BE DISCOURAGED.—Suppose you have "tried fifty remedies" and received no benefit, is there, therefore, "no balm in Gilead?" Verily there is. Your liver may be congested, your stomach half paralyzed, your nerves quivering, your muscles knotted with torture, your bowels constricted, your lungs diseased, your blood full of impurities—yet in one week after commencing a course of Dr. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, you will feel like a new creature. apr28ndw
