

A STRIKE AT THE RINK.

Anthony Shimer put four men at work excavating Thursday afternoon for the new wall which he proposes to put up to keep the old Princess rink from falling down. The man worked well but Shimer was dissatisfied Friday morning with what one of them had done and discharged him, declaring that he could get all the workmen he wanted equal to the man who had incurred his displeasure for 75 cents a day. Then the other three men struck. They refused to work unless their comrade was obliterated and the four went out together. "Shimer" succeeded during the day in getting a couple of new men and digging was continued.

If Shimer persists in his present plans it is uncertain that the rink will not come down without assistance. Shimer proposes to excavate to a depth of nine feet for the new wall and it would not be surprising, if because of this excavation, the old wall should give way and fall.

PENSIONER HARRIS DEAD.

A Veteran of the War - Who Evidently Had Little Faith in Banks.

William W. Harris, a well known veteran of the late war, died Wednesday at his lodgings over No. 184 Genesee street after a short illness, in the thirty-third year of his age. Mr. Harris saw service in Company L, Ninth New York Heavy artillery and was injured in service. He was a pensioner and after his death, $390 was found in a belt around his waist.

Repairs on the Central.

J. A. Taylor of Canandaigua, road master of the New York Central, and a gang of 56 section men from the sections along the road are in Auburn today laying new steel rails in the yard and through the depot.

The work of laying new rails was commenced at the two mile bridge near Seneca and the gang are working their way west. Last fall new rails were laid as far as Syracuse. The switches and frogs in the yard will also be replaced by new ones. The work is progressing nicely and the local section gang are assisting in the work. A gang from Rochester who came in with the work train repaired the water tank and the mason work at the water house and put in new closets in the freight office besides doing some other needed repairs.

For Violation of the Excise Law.

William H. Coulter was received at the jail Saturday to serve three months and if he fails to pay a fine of $50, fifty days additional, for selling liquor without a license. Coulter is a hotel keeper at Union Springs.

Funeral of Lucius Colby.

The funeral of the late Lucius G. Colby was held from his home 232 Franklin street Friday afternoon and was well attended. Rev. Giles H. Hubbard, pastor of the First Baptist church, conducted the funeral service. The eccentric old man was laid to rest in the casket he purchased some years ago, which he had in his house awaiting his death. The interment was in Fort Hill cemetery.

Marriages.

LINDSEY-GREENE-At the Brick Church, Auburn, N. Y., March 27, 1894, by Rev. Harvey R. Lindsey, of Auburn, and Hattie E. Greene of Rochester.

Deaths.

SPENCER-At Auburn, Monday eve, March 27, 1894, Joseph infant son of Anna and Michael Spencer, aged 1 year, 9 months and 14 days.

Deaths.

PROBUE-In Auburn, March 27, 1894, at the residence of the family, Octavio Louis Napoleon son of Louis N. and Sophia Brooks, aged 1 year and 14 days.

Deaths.

TYLER-In Waterloo, N. Y., Mar 28, 1894, Loren Tyler, father of George L. Tyler, formerly of this city.

Deaths.

HENNESSY-In Auburn, Monday eve, March 27, 1894, Joseph infant son of Anna and Michael Hennessy, aged 1 year, 9 months and 14 days.

Deaths.

PROBUE-In Auburn, March 27, 1894, at the residence of the family, Octavio Louis Napoleon son of Louis N. and Sophia Brooks, aged 1 year and 14 days.

Deaths.

TYLER-In Waterloo, N. Y., Mar 28, 1894, Loren Tyler, father of George L. Tyler, formerly of this city.

Deaths.

HENNESSY-In Auburn, Monday eve, March 27, 1894, Joseph infant son of Anna and Michael Hennessy, aged 1 year, 9 months and 14 days.

Deaths.

PROBUE-In Auburn, March 27, 1894, at the residence of the family, Octavio Louis Napoleon son of Louis N. and Sophia Brooks, aged 1 year and 14 days.

Deaths.

TYLER-In Waterloo, N. Y., Mar 28, 1894, Loren Tyler, father of George L. Tyler, formerly of this city.

Deaths.

HENNESSY-In Auburn, Monday eve, March 27, 1894, Joseph infant son of Anna and Michael Hennessy, aged 1 year, 9 months and 14 days.

Deaths.

PROBUE-In Auburn, March 27, 1894, at the residence of the family, Octavio Louis Napoleon son of Louis N. and Sophia Brooks, aged 1 year and 14 days.

EARL GETS EIGHT YEARS. THE ROBBER OF OLD MAN LIVINGSTON COMING TO AUBURN.

Earl's Attorney Won a Mortgage on the Farm Which His Client Bought With the Stolen Money - A Sketch of the Old Miser Whom Earl Robbed.

John Earl, who with a companion named McPeerson was charged with robbing Jacob Livingstone, an old miser who has lived for years near Fair Haven, of $9,000, was convicted in the Court of Sessions at Lyons Friday of robbing in the first degree and grand larceny in the first degree and was sentenced by Judge Luther M. Norton to eight years' imprisonment in Auburn prison.

Judge Norton in sentencing the prisoner said that the entire court concurred in the finding of the jury that the story Earl had told was a tissue of falsehoods in telling which the man had perjured himself. Earl's term will be shortened to about five years, four months by good behavior. Earl's daughter who was in the court, broke down and commenced crying as soon as sentence had been pronounced. Earl is a married man. The crime was committed June 11, 1893. After getting the money, Earl purchased a farm and got married a second time, sending his farm to his wife, Attorney Willis H. Coon of Wolcott, who defended Earl, has a mortgage on the farm for $1,000.

A special to the Rochester Democrat from Auburn gives the following account of old man Livingstone's misadventure: "Jacob Livingstone, the victim, is reported to be a miser of misers, and his home is a typical miser's hovel. And the reason in which he lives is largely inhabited by people quite as peculiar as himself. It is called Cay Cat (also spelled Kay Kay), and lies south of the lake shore, and northwest of the village of Red Creek, in Eastern Tennessee. Northern Georgia or the Ozark region. Missouri the inhabitants are not more remote from civilization nor less a class ino themselves than are these people.

"Largely settled by Mohawk Dutchman or French Canadian, Cay Cat has resolutely refused to mingle with surrounding communities, and heartily shuns all in de se tie innovation. In only one respect are the inhabitants changed from the condition of fifty years ago—they do not absolutely assault strangers who venture into their domain. Up to and including the '60's a ride down one of their grass-covered roads was often as much as the intruder's life was worth, and many an old resident bears scars on head or back where he was wounded by sticks or stones hurled at him by excited tribesmen. The merrill nostrils still tingle at the remembrance of stale eggs that were showered upon him. In those days the lahams, Van Aukens and other prolific families had strapping sons and daughters by the dozen, who took as much delight in worrying a chance visitor as did their numberless dogs in slaying woodchucks or coons, and considered it quite as little reprehensible and even more exciting.

"To do them a measure of justice it may be said that these assaults were, in a way, reprisals, for they seldom ventured out of their halldom to Red Creek or Wolcott without being assailed during the journey. The deadliest of feuds existed between them and the neighboring villages and farmers. At present the animosity abates, and the stranger who keeps a still tongue in his head is safe in Cay Cat. But the inhabitants are unchanged, speaking a dialect all their own, marrying solely among themselves and agitated chiefly by envious rivalry. In this quality Jacob Livingstone is far and away the leading light of Cay Cat.

"Years ago the family moved into the country from Mohawk valley, where they bought a large tract of virgin soil, began to clear their highly valuable farms, and reduced to a fine art the ordinarily haphazard scheme of saving. As a young man, Jacob Livingstone lived upon 20 cents a week; then he married, the attendant expenses mounting up to $2, and for a time he was paid by a weekly expenditure of 35 cents. But by judicious paring, this was reduced to the old figure, being augmented only by a birth, the death of his first wife and his second marriage. These extra expenditures were all kept within the shortest possible compass of time, however, and after the death of his second wife, about twelve years ago, Mr. Livingstone fairly outdid himself in saving, and amassed the fortune and entry of all his neighbors. His living expenses were now but 7 cents per week, and he joyfully resolved to abstain from further marriages, as luxuries only within the reach of the poor and foolish. He had one son, Jacob, Jr., who was snitting for himself and following reasonably well in the paternal footsteps, so the old gentleman lived alone at the lumbered firm in the belief that it would not fall down about his head till the undertaker kindly removed him to the cheapest of all residences. He was filthy, ragged, shivering and half starved; his bed was a heap of rags, his home a decayed ruin, his food the meanest refuse. He had not a friend on earth, but his property was valued at nearly $40,000. In a chest up stairs, concealed in a closet, with the doors boarded and nailed up, and the only entrance by way of a ladder through a window, he had $9,000 in gold and notes, which he could fondle and gloat over, whenever his poor trembling limbs permitted him to pay it a perkins visit.

"One night he was drugged and robbed, not by Cay Catites; they starve themselves, and lie to assessors, but they do not steal. The malefactor was discovered, and one of them now is convicted, but nobody feels any particular interest in him. Poor old Jacob Livingstone is heartbroken; he says he will have to go to the poorhouse. True, he has gotten most of his money back, but the trial has cost him a vast amount, and as he had to go to Lyons, he had to buy a new suit of clothes—the first in forty years—his brother, Adam, having resolutely refused to loan him his second best garments longer.

"And the people of Cay Cat are at last becoming suspicious of the safety of tea pots, stockings and chests, and are thinking of cautiously testing some standing bank. If they can only find some resident of their locality who can read and write and in whom they have confidence, it is possible that in a year or so they will deposit at least a portion of the one hundred and odd thousand dollars which they have concealed. The Lord only knows where. But like all conservative people, they are certain to move slowly, and there are many obstacles in the way."

CHARGED WITH GRAND LARCENY.

George Vickers Stole More Than $100 From Prof. Darling's Room.

George Vickers, about 21 years old, was charged with grand larceny. Vickers was employed in general utility work at the National hotel and had access to many of the rooms, it being part of his duty to look after stoves. On the 15th of March Vickers entered the room of Prof. Timothy G. Darling, of the Theological seminary, found in the drawer of a dresser a tin box containing $40 in cash, a check for $50 payable to Prof. Darling, a note for $100, a revolver and some jewelry. Vickers took everything but the note, which he secured with the key in a store room at the hotel. Prof. Darling did not discover his loss until March 17 and as Vickers had left the hotel on the 15th suspicion fell upon him. The matter was reported to the police and Vickers was taken to his home at Marlboro, Mass. His sister suspected that something was amiss and asked Vickers where he got the check. He said he had done a job of plumbing for a saloon keeper named Darling in this city and had received the check. The sister did not believe his story and he finally confessed that he stole the check and $40. He had forged Prof. Darling's name to the check and had profittely tried to cash it but failed. His relatives returned the check to its owner and made an effort to get the matter hushed up. A warrant for Vickers was placed in the hands of Under Sheriff Mead and Vickers was duly arrested. He came without requisition papers and arrived in this city Monday night at 8 o'clock. It was learned from Vickers that he pawned the jewelry in this city and it was recovered. The revolver, he says, he sold to a man on a Lehigh valley train out of this city. Vickers was taken out of this city on a Lehigh valley train Tuesday morning and said: "I'm guilty all right enough but I don't know what to do." He was sent back to the cell to reflect.

NO ROAD TO GENOA.

The Proposed Railway Project Dropped.

GENOA, March 31.—At the annual village election held yesterday, Dr. J. W. Skinner was elected president; F. J. Smith, trustee; A. A. Maginn, treasurer; Will D. Norman, collector. The last vote was also had on the question of discontinuation resulting in 5 for and 60 against a continuance of incorporation.

Last Sunday night Fred E. Armstrong, deputy postmaster, attended church leaving the key to the postoffice in his overcoat in the vestibule. Leroy Niver, a lad about eighteen years of age, took the key and started the postoffice, stealing the cash in the drawer and returning the key to its former safe hiding in the coat of the unsuspecting deputy. A marked Mexican silver dollar which was among the cash taken was later returned by Niver who slipped it through a crack in the window of the postoffice. A postoffice inspector was here on Tuesday and after a hearing before Supt. Howe, Constable Will Harris took Niver to Auburn and placed him in the custody of United States authorities.

REMEMBER.

The latest revised and corrected edition of KIDPATH'S HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES can be obtained only through The Auburn BULLETIN and those papers published at the BULLETIN office. No other newspapers in this section get it. On account of its superiority and permanent value as an educator, we have secured the exclusive control of it for our readers. Remember, one coupon or heading and ten cents, secures a weekly part.

THE COUNTY.

CAUGUGA, March 21.—The churches are preparing for Easter services. Tuesday evening James Ambrose lectures at the M. E. church. Subject, "The Fool in Politics."

Next Democrat contest April 6. Rev. Frank Cole is very low at this writing, all hope for her recovery.

Miss Trowbridge of Auburn, was the guest over Sunday of Miss Anna Van Sickle.

All are glad to see Charles Kyle in town.

THE COUNTY.

CAUGUGA, March 21.—The churches are preparing for Easter services. Tuesday evening James Ambrose lectures at the M. E. church. Subject, "The Fool in Politics."

Next Democrat contest April 6. Rev. Frank Cole is very low at this writing, all hope for her recovery.

Miss Trowbridge of Auburn, was the guest over Sunday of Miss Anna Van Sickle.

All are glad to see Charles Kyle in town.

THE COUNTY.

CAUGUGA, March 21.—The churches are preparing for Easter services. Tuesday evening James Ambrose lectures at the M. E. church. Subject, "The Fool in Politics."

Next Democrat contest April 6. Rev. Frank Cole is very low at this writing, all hope for her recovery.

Miss Trowbridge of Auburn, was the guest over Sunday of Miss Anna Van Sickle.

All are glad to see Charles Kyle in town.

THE COUNTY.

CAUGUGA, March 21.—The churches are preparing for Easter services. Tuesday evening James Ambrose lectures at the M. E. church. Subject, "The Fool in Politics."

Next Democrat contest April 6. Rev. Frank Cole is very low at this writing, all hope for her recovery.

Miss Trowbridge of Auburn, was the guest over Sunday of Miss Anna Van Sickle.

All are glad to see Charles Kyle in town.

THE COUNTY.

CAUGUGA, March 21.—The churches are preparing for Easter services. Tuesday evening James Ambrose lectures at the M. E. church. Subject, "The Fool in Politics."

Next Democrat contest April 6. Rev. Frank Cole is very low at this writing, all hope for her recovery.

Miss Trowbridge of Auburn, was the guest over Sunday of Miss Anna Van Sickle.

All are glad to see Charles Kyle in town.

THE COUNTY.

CAUGUGA, March 21.—The churches are preparing for Easter services. Tuesday evening James Ambrose lectures at the M. E. church. Subject, "The Fool in Politics."

Next Democrat contest April 6. Rev. Frank Cole is very low at this writing, all hope for her recovery.

Miss Trowbridge of Auburn, was the guest over Sunday of Miss Anna Van Sickle.

All are glad to see Charles Kyle in town.

THE COUNTY.

CAUGUGA, March 21.—The churches are preparing for Easter services. Tuesday evening James Ambrose lectures at the M. E. church. Subject, "The Fool in Politics."

AN ITHACA DANCING MASTER'S ERROR.

Obtained in Miss Shepard's Presence at a Dance and Ordered Her Escort Out—The Case.

NEW YORK, March 22.—A special from Ithaca says: A jury rendered a verdict in a peculiar case yesterday. Clarence H. T. Smith, proprietor of "Manor of St. George," an estate comprising some 8,000 acres on Staten Island sued Prof. Leopold Leo of this city for $2,500 damages for expelling him from a dancing class on February 23, 1893. Smith, who was then a student in the Cornell law school, was invited by the professor to attend the class that particular night, the class holding a reception. Smith invited a young lady, a Miss Shepard, of this city, to attend the reception with him, and paid $1 for an admission ticket. He conducted the lady to the dressing room and a few minutes later was about to take part in the promenade when the professor stepped up to him and said: "Mr. Smith, you have brought a lady of bad repute with you, and the balance of my class refuse to stay if she remains, and under these circumstances you must not stay."

The professor and Smith had a hot argument which resulted in Smith leaving the hall with the lady in question, threatening vengeance. A few months later he brought suit against the professor at Staten Island, but dropped it there and renewed it here. The jury rendered a verdict of $133. The defendant will appeal.

A NEW LAUNCH FOR CORNELL.

ITHACA, March 22.—The Cornell navy is at last to have the long felt want in the way of a launch, and the work on the new boat has already been started under the supervision of Charles Kellogg, a well known boat builder, on Cayuga lake.

The launch will be 60 feet long, 9 feet beam, and will carry 60 persons with perfect safety. It will be fitted with compound engines and have a speed of 14 miles an hour, with a maximum of 16 miles. This compares more than favorably with the speed of both the Yale and Harvard launches, the maximum speed of the former being 14 miles, while Harvard's can make but 13 miles per hour. The boat will have decks of eight feet fore and aft, with a light upper deck. She will be finished in mahogany and fully equipped for salt water cruising, so that she may be taken wherever the crews race. Money will not be spared to make it the finest launch owned by the college navy. The cost of the launch will be about $6,000. Byron E. Shear, 74, of Denver, Col., has donated $3,100 towards the launch. Mr. Kellogg, of Ithaca, who has the contract for building the launch, contributes $500. It is generally believed that the balance is contributed by last year's commodore of the navy, H. J. Hagerman, '94, of Denver.

The launch will be 60 feet long, 9 feet beam, and will carry 60 persons with perfect safety. It will be fitted with compound engines and have a speed of 14 miles an hour, with a maximum of 16 miles. This compares more than favorably with the speed of both the Yale and Harvard launches, the maximum speed of the former being 14 miles, while Harvard's can make but 13 miles per hour. The boat will have decks of eight feet fore and aft, with a light upper deck. She will be finished in mahogany and fully equipped for salt water cruising, so that she may be taken wherever the crews race. Money will not be spared to make it the finest launch owned by the college navy. The cost of the launch will be about $6,000. Byron E. Shear, 74, of Denver, Col., has donated $3,100 towards the launch. Mr. Kellogg, of Ithaca, who has the contract for building the launch, contributes $500. It is generally believed that the balance is contributed by last year's commodore of the navy, H. J. Hagerman, '94, of Denver.

ALL OF US CLOTHIERS.

Are now claiming Largest Stocks, Newest Goods, Lowest Prices, &c. &c. Some of our statements are mistakes. See what we have, then judge for yourself. We claim to have the best values. We can show many new things that no one else has. Our Easter sale convinced us that the people like our goods. Our customers are our best advertisements. We have special bargains in Hats and Furnishing Goods. See our stock and you'll find just what you want at a lower price than you expected.

C. R. EGBERT,

The People's Clothier, Hatter and Furnisher,

75 Genesee St., Auburn, N. Y.

Agency for Old Staten Island Dyeing Establishment.

HANK CARR HELD UP.

Three Net Owners Made the Game Protector quit.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 24.—While State Game Protector Carr was trying to seize the nets of four men engaged in illegal fishing in Cayuga lake Thursday night, they assaulted him with guns and revolvers. The officer had seized the nets when one of the men placed the muzzle of his gun against his body and threatened to kill Carr if he took the property. A few feet away another member of the net crew, who was armed with Carr's head, threatened Carr with a revolver, but thought under the circumstances he would not shoot or take the nets. He was permitted to depart unharmed and yesterday swore out warrants for the arrest of J. T. Curt, "Art" Bishop and "Bossy" Thompson.

Good Templars' Convention.

The Good Templars of this county held their 44th session at Union Springs, Wednesday and Thursday. The convention was well attended notwithstanding the disagreeable weather that prevailed. Much interest was manifested and many new pieces of work were laid out, the principal one being that of securing Mrs. L. C. Wheeler of Auburn and a grand lodge lecturer for work in this county and to establish a beneficiary department in connection with the order. The following officers were present: W. E. Kilborne, C. C. T. of Kelloggsville; Susie Ingram, C. C. T. of Union Springs; W. E. Seawing, P. C. T. of Sherwoods; Charles Blakey, county secretary of Auburn; E. J. Waldron, C. M. of Auburn; John Irving, C. D. of Union Springs; J. M. Sprague, C. O. of Union Springs; Rev. M. Sprague, C. T. of Bethel; Mrs. L. C. Wheeler, C. S. J. T. of Auburn.

Deaths of Mrs. Marton.

Mrs. Mary W., widow of the late Eliphalet Marton, died Wednesday night at the home of her son-in-law, Samuel Morse, No. 119 Wall street, aged 94 years. The funeral services were held Thursday evening at 7:30 at the residence of Mr. Morse and the remains were taken to Selborne Falls, Mass., Friday morning for interment.

Collector of Customs at Fair Haven.

Ex-Supervisor F. B. Phillips of Sterling has been appointed collector of customs at the port of Fair Haven and was sworn in Thursday. The appointment was made by Collector W. J. Bolger of the port of Oswego.

Remitting Job-Bedell.

Charles E. Bedell, of this city, was married on March 11 to Miss Luella Hemington, of Port Byron. The ceremony took place at Port Byron and Rev. A. D. Tilden was the officiating clergyman.

Mississippi grows 1,000,000 bales of cotton annually.

Mississippi grows 1,000,000 bales of cotton annually.

Receivers Sticker Discharged.

Monday morning's Syracuse Standard says: "The Sticker-Simonds furniture company have commenced with their creditors, and will not be dissolved under the proceedings instituted last fall. Gustave Sticker, the receiver then appointed, has been discharged by an order of the court. Judgment creditors, it is said, were paid in full, notes being taken, and other claims were satisfied with 50 cents on the dollar."

Shot the Dog.

A boy named Money was bitten by a vicious dog in Underwood street Sunday morning. The boy's father was badly lacerated.

WM. C. CROSMAN,

Leading Jeweler & Scientific Optician

92 Genesee St., Auburn, N. Y.

INGALLS,

Opera House Block, 18 North St. Auburn, N. Y.

A Full Meal For the Baby Mellin's Food. A meal possessing all the nutritious properties of mother's milk without any of the farinaceous and injurious matter of which artificial food is usually composed. DOLIBER-GOODALE CO., Boston, Mass.

LOOK AT OUR Misses' Dong. Spring Heel, Pat. Tip Shoes, Sizes 11 to 2, for 75c. YOU OUGHT TO TRY ONE PAIR OF OUR BOYS' SHOES for $1, Sizes 1 to 5. We can show you the best Ladies' Fine Kid Shoes for $2 in the city, the latest styles. For the Most Stylish, Easiest Fitting and Best Wearing $1.50 and $2 Men's Shoes in the State. Look at ours. We have the best line of TRUNKS, and for the lowest prices in Auburn. Step in and see us. MILLS & LATHROP, 57 Genesee Street.

ALL OF US CLOTHIERS. Are now claiming Largest Stocks, Newest Goods, Lowest Prices, &c. &c. Some of our statements are mistakes. See what we have, then judge for yourself. We claim to have the best values. We can show many new things that no one else has. Our Easter sale convinced us that the people like our goods. Our customers are our best advertisements. We have special bargains in Hats and Furnishing Goods. See our stock and you'll find just what you want at a lower price than you expected. C. R. EGBERT, The People's Clothier, Hatter and Furnisher, 75 Genesee St., Auburn, N. Y. Agency for Old Staten Island Dyeing Establishment.

RAMSEY SEEDS! Unequaled in Quality, True to Name, The Best Varieties, Sure to Grow Good Crops! U. S. CREAM SEPARATOR, come and see it. J. W. RAMSEY & SON, 33 Market St., Auburn, N. Y.

3-1-2c GRANULATED SUGAR 3-1-2c. When you can buy Granulated Sugar for $1.20 a pound, saving 30 cents on every dollar, you have a privilege that was never known in the history of the human race. You can not do better than lay in a supply, as sugar will not always be sold for so little money. With each pound of the best 50c Tea or Baking Powder we sell 10 lbs. of Sugar for 35c. With a half pound of Tea we sell 5 lbs. of sugar. L. L. REA'S TEA STORE, 31 Genesee St.

SEEDS! SEEDS! SEEDS! We are now prepared to fill all orders for GARDEN, FIELD and FLOWER SEEDS. Our stock is new and our prices are right. Call before buying. Particular attention given to mail orders. Goods at wholesale or retail. NOYES & DURYEA, 4 East Genesee St., Auburn, N. Y.

GRAND DISPLAY OF BOOTS and SHOES. Thrown on our Bargain Counters at HALF PRICE! Great Values From the East Just Received! Bargain tables overflowing with the biggest bargains ever placed before the public. Thousands of pairs of Ladies' Kid Button Shoes, elegant styles, from $1.25 to $1.75, also extra choice makes going at $2 and $2.50 a pair. MEN'S SHOES. The greatest stock ever offered at the prices. Elegant styles going at $2 and $2.50. MISCELLANEOUS LOTS. Scattered over the counters, such as Infants' Shoes, 50c to 50c. Children's Spring Heel Button, 35c to 60c. Misses' Button Shoes, 75c to $1. Boys' Shoes, 75c to $1. Women's Congress, 50c to $1. Women's Kid Slippers, 50c to 75c. Women's Buckskin, 50c to $1. Women's Oxfords, 75c to $1. Women's Beaver Congress and Lace Shoes, 50c to $1. Women's Goat and Grain Button Shoes, $1 to $1.25, besides an endless variety of kinds too numerous to mention, will go at the same low prices. WM. C. CROSMAN, Leading Jeweler & Scientific Optician, 92 Genesee St., Auburn, N. Y. INGALLS, Opera House Block, 18 North St. Auburn, N. Y.