

UPS AND DOWNS.

THE NEW BOARD OF CHARITIES AND POLICE MAKES IMPORTANT CHANGES

Captain Callahan and Roundman Malone Return to Patrol Duty. Birdsell is Captain and McMaster Roundman.

Commissioner Lewis, who for nearly a year has had nothing to do with the management of the police department, had an inauspicious start when the new Board of Charities and Police met for the first time.

This occasioned very little surprise as it had been foreshadowed. The real surprise of the initial session of the Board was the preferring of charges against Officer Edward Ryan, who has patrolled the lower North street post for over a year.

It is said by some that Officer Ryan will have to go, to give an opportunity to the Board to reduce Chief Fullmer to the ranks and make way for a chief of the Board's choice, but it is not probable that the new commissioners have prejudged the accused officer or that their verdict will be in any degree at variance with the testimony.

The session commenced in the ordinary way a minute or two before 8 o'clock, when Mayor Wadsworth called the Board to order. The hills were first taken up and, with the pay roll, were approved.

James K. Baldwin, salary $100.00; George Fuller, disbursements, 3.30; Dr. Bristerhoff, 1.50; Charles H. Smyth, 1.50; Richard A. Wallace, 1.00.

Chief Fullmer's report of arrests and fines for the month was received and filed.

On motion of Commissioner Winegar the clerk was instructed to make a requisition on the common council for $100 for a special fund.

This was done in the informal manner which has always been characteristic of the Board. Commissioner Lewis on being assured that all the bills were disposed of, said: "I suppose we've got some appointments to make as city doctors."

Mayor Wadsworth smiled and asked who the candidates were.

Commissioner Lewis said: "I'll tell you who I'm going to vote for, Dr. Hyatt, Mr. Morse and Hodgeman," and he proceeded to prepare a ballot.

Mayor Wadsworth said that wasn't necessary and Commissioner Lewis then moved the appointment of the three doctors named. They were appointed. The salary is $100 a year.

Then Commissioner Lewis remarked: "We've got an examining physician to appoint," and Commissioner Winegar added: "In place of Dr. Creveling."

"Will you do it by ballot?" asked the mayor.

"I guess a motion will do," said Commissioner Lewis and then Commissioner Winegar moved that Dr. F. H. Parker be appointed, "the pay not to exceed that of last year."

never heard of this matter until about ten days ago when Mr. Pearson called at my office, Commissioner Winegar was present. The charge seems grave enough to me.

The mayor said the city attorney was the legal adviser of the Board and his advice had been followed. He had regarded the matter as trivial and it had slipped his mind.

Mr. Pearson said he would like to know if an officer had a right to drive away from a hotel. He considered that he had lost $5.

Commissioner Lewis said: "I do like straight work and concealing this wasn't right."

Mayor Wadsworth said the captain could tell the condition of the officer that night. He thought it could be easily proven that he was not drunk.

Commissioner Lewis hoped it could. Mr. Pearson said it was only last week that someone saw the officer watching his hotel and the officer asked the gentleman to go up stairs and see who was there.

Mayor Wadsworth said there was nothing wrong about an officer trying to find out what was going on. If the officer had spent too much time in one place, the roundman would probably have reported it.

Commissioner Lewis: "I've been here two years and I can't recall when a night roundman reported anything. Do you?"

Commissioner Lewis remarked that under the circumstances it was not clear that no report had been made in this case.

The mayor said that there was really no necessity of roundmen then. Commissioner Lewis wouldn't disagree with that view much.

Mr. Pearson said he had a memorandum of other matters and he could swear to it.

Commissioner Lewis again expressed surprise that he had not heard of the other complaint and the mayor said he didn't speak of it, but he did not know but Commissioner Smith had.

"You can bet your bottom dollar he never mentioned it," said Mr. Lewis and the mayor thought he might have spoken about it when they met at the watering trough near the mill.

The mayor said: "If there is anything wrong on the part of the officer, I am as ready to right it as any one."

Mr. Lewis declared he did not doubt it and Commissioner Winegar asked how to proceed.

Commissioner Lewis said the officer was to have time to prepare to refute the charges and he moved that the city attorney put the charges in shape and, he added, "the officer will be of course suspended while the charges are pending."

The motion was carried and the meeting adjourned.
