FINED FOR BRINGING IN ALIENS

Three Men Pay—Costs Boy's Father $1,000 for Effort to Get Him to U. S.

Judge Frank Cooper adjudged Federal Court last night until 9:30 Monday morning when a large number of sealed indictments handed down last night by the Grand Jury will be opened and some of the accused will be arraigned.

Monday afternoon another libel case will be taken up, that of the United States vs. one Reg Speed Truck and others. This is another bores case similar to the one brought to a close last night.

Mr. Lawler was the only witness put on by the defense and he was subjected to an unmerciful grilling by District Attorney Lucey on cross-examination.

He had instructed his men, Charles H. Spinke and Robert Johnson, to go to the first cross road beyond Massena and to the first white house on the right where there would be someone to help load the furniture.

Elit Freiman, a New York merchant, pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with an attempt to bring aliens into the United States from Canada and was fined $1,000.

Yelash was fined $375 and also lost an automobile valued at $800. R. N. Feinburg of New York was fined for the three defendants and explained to the court that Freiman had left his home in New York and gone to Montreal to secure the release of his son who was being held there by the authorities.

Young Freiman picked up four other Jews who were seeking entrance to the United States and the five were brought through to New York by the defendant in the automobile. It is claimed that they were arrested and the automobiles confiscated. The five boys were returned to Montreal where they are now detained. Freiman, the father of one of the boys, was fined $200 for each boy, and Greenspan was fined $100 for each of the boys.

Another of the alleged contraband liquor cases that predominate in this term of Federal Court will come up Monday. It is the case of the United States vs. an automobile and Joe Francis of Rochester. The trial was begun last night and will be continued Monday. The case originates in the case of the French steamer, Flandre, plying between Mexican and European ports next Monday. It is announced that he has declined to sign passports or other papers and continues to maintain a passive resistance against deportation from Mexico.

APPARATUS SIRENS TELL OF FIRE PREVENTION DAY

The noise of Fire Department apparatus sirens sounding lustily about the streets this morning did not mean that there was a fire. No, it was just the announcement that today is being observed throughout the country as Fire Prevention Day.

REPAIR STATE DAM ON OUTLET

Assistant Superintendent Baldwin from the division office of the State Barge Canal in Syracuse is in Auburn with a repair gang engaged in necessary repairs to the state dam at the end of Swift Street. The water rights and the power developed at the state dam, made complaint some time ago that the dam was in a condition that might develop into a serious impairment of the power as well as to the supply of water from Oswego Lake that feeds the Barge Canal.

The masonry has become loose through the washing out of the pointing and, most menacing of all, the apron below the dam has been crushed by ice and undermined by the action of water. Just how long it will take to make the repairs or the amount of the cost could not be estimated until the work is under way. Originally, the water power at the point now occupied by the state dam was acquired by Elisha Swift and he built a wooden dam and a combination saw and grist mill. His title to the riparian rights was handed down to the old Auburn Water Works Company until with the creation of the Water Board by the Legislature it succeeded to the title. When the Erie Canal was built nearly a century ago the state built the stone dam on this site to control the level of Oswego Lake as the water constituted a feeder to the canal at Monticello. The state has ever since maintained the dam.

REGISTRATION IS HEAVY HERE

Fair skies today drew out large number at the second registration day in Auburn. Indications this afternoon were that the figures would be considerably eclipsed. Today was the first registration day in the country and Saturday is the last. Only two registration days are held in the country districts as against four in the city. Officials in the Board of Elections today urged all to visit the polls as early as possible so that the last minute rush on the last two days of registration in Auburn, Friday and Saturday next, may be relieved. The polls will be open tonight until 10 o'clock.

The remains were laid to rest in the family plot in St. Joseph's Cemetery. The bearers were James Keefe, George Burns, Jay Donovan, Dudley Knight, Richard Donovan and Edward Nicht.

Diels of Heart Trouble. Death came suddenly last night to Ernest Smith, age 38 years, formerly of this city. COLUMBUS DAY TO BE CELEBRATED FITTINGLY HERE

Plans for the annual observance of Columbus Day Tuesday, October 12, are being rapidly pushed by various organizations of the city, the expectations being that the day's celebration of the national event in Auburn, while quiet, will be an interesting one. By far the biggest separate celebration planned is that of the Italian colony and lodges of the city. Columbus himself having been native to sunny Italy, his sons and daughters in America today take a special interest in paying reverence to the day. A big parade, which will include delegations from all of the various Italian lodges and associations in the city the Italian band, and prominent city officials will be one of the features of the Italian observance. The line-up will be formed at the intersection of Clark and Washington Streets and will traverse all of the principal streets of the business district before dispersing at a Court house where at 7:30 p. m. a special program of speeches and demonstrations in honor of the event will be given.

The American observance of the day will be marked by the closing of all banks, a big display of Italian and American flags along the principal business thoroughfares, and special exercises in all of the schools of the city.

HIGHWAYMEN GET $200,000 WORTH OF SET DIAMONDS

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Set diamonds said to be worth $200,000 were taken from Max Lowenthal, a salesman by two highwaymen in Delaware Avenue early today. Although a taxicab driver made a desperate effort to deliver the thieves to a police station they succeeded in getting away with the plunder.

Lowenthal is a salesman for Philip Present and Company of Rochester. He came to Buffalo from Chicago last night arriving here shortly before midnight. With two suitcases filled with jewelry he boarded a street car to go to his home in Potomac Avenue. Lowenthal left the car at Delaware and Potomac Avenues and had taken only a few steps when a taxicab drove up. Two men sprang out, knocked Lowenthal down, seized his suitcases and jumping back into the taxicab covered the driver with a revolver and told him to drive downtown.

The driver, Clarence Miller, gathered from the conversation of the men that they were strangers in the city so he took a chance and turned off Delaware into Pearl Street bringing his car to a stop in front of a police station. When Miller ran toward the steps of the station the highwaymen opened the door across the street, disappearing in the darkness. One of Lowenthal's suitcases containing three rings was found in a vacant lot three miles from the police station this morning.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 9.—Diamonds valued at $220,000 were stolen last night when two men jumped from a taxicab in Buffalo and attacked Max Lowenthal, a diamond salesman from a Rochester firm, after following him from Cleveland, according to reports received by police here. As he alighted from street car near his home, Lowenthal told the police two men jumped from the taxicab and struck him over the head with the butts of revolvers. He fell unconscious and the men escaped with a suitcase containing the gems.

GOLD MINE YIELDS TIMBER

Found at Depth of 300 Feet in New Gallery. Men employed in driving a new gallery in a gold mine at Charlotte Plains of Victoria, Austria, have made an astonishing discovery. At a depth of 300 feet below the ground they have come upon pieces of timber perfectly preserved, which have every appearance of having been seen and shaped by the hand of man. This timber lies in the bed of an ancient river now being worked for gold, and the timber is oak. Now oak has the peculiar property of lasting for centuries when buried in water or wet sand. Oak piles have been taken out from under old wooden bridges, constructed by the Romans as sound as when they were put there nearly 2,000 years ago. Oak, known as bog oak, is found buried in peat bogs and is perfectly black, intensely hard and very valuable. At present there is an absolute famine in seasoned oak wood, but if we could suppress Bolshevism and open up Russia to trade that famine would soon be ended. Just before the war it was discovered that the bed of the River Mokaba, for a length of over 400 miles, is simply full of magnificent old oak trees bedded in sand. The river is shallow and broad, and the oak can easily be raised. As a matter of fact a company was being formed to work these wonderful deposits when war intervened. Small deposits are found in England. There is a pool in the River Dart, known from time immemorial as Oak Pool, in the bottom of which are masses of fine, old oak. The strange thing is that there are no oak trees near the spot at present.—Yankeeer Sun.

HOBBIES OF GREAT MEN

Washington's Chief Diversion Was Training Foxes. George Washington's principal diversion was training foxes. He was fond of fox hunting. He took the animal home and trained them in all kinds of tricks, which he often exhibited to friends. Francis Bacon was so fond of fine clothes that he spent his odd time in trying to devise new styles and features of dress. During his life he made some 1,200 drawings of freakish costumes. When he could not get anybody to wear them, he hired a number of men to don the grotesque attire and to promenade the streets for his pleasure. President Cleveland liked to paint the children's toys and little odds and ends of household furniture. Seated on a stool, with the youngsters of the White House around him, Mr. Cleveland would amuse himself by hours decorating their toys in the liveliest shades. Feunimore Cooper couldn't write unless he had gumdrops to chew. He had a library. He bought gumdrops in 10-pound lots. Daniel Webster had a curious fancy for painting the faces of his cattle. One week the poor beasts would walk around with blue faces and the next would appear with red ones. The effect was so novel that it pleased him and from that time forth he changed the color whenever he had a few minutes to spare, would laugh heartily at the astonishment of his friends when they saw the queer-looking beasts.—Detroit News.
