

FRANK STUPP DEAD AT 76

Former Recorder Victim of Cancer from Wounds in War.

Frank J. Stupp, one of Auburn's best known citizens, died this morning at the home of his son, Frank Stupp, Jr., No. 16 Perry Street, in the 76th year of his age. The deceased had spent practically all his life in Auburn and had been honored in various lines by the people of Auburn.

For many years past life has been burdensome, as cancer developed from wounds received on the battlefield of Gettysburg and the dread ailment made inroads on his system which only death could stay. He bore his sufferings with the same bravery and fortitude that he displayed in the Civil War, uncomplaining and bravely.

Up to shortly after the Spanish-American War he was identified with military affairs of the nation and especially of the local National Guard Company. For many years he was armorer at the armory in State Street and he not only looked after the buildings and property in a manner to receive the highest approbation of the inspecting officers but he was a big asset in the drilling of the command which has always held the highest notch for efficiency in the state of New York.

He was a good disciplinarian and fully company. All about the streets today could be heard expressions of regret from men who have served enlistments in the National Guard as well as citizens generally.

The deceased is survived by five children, Mrs. Clara Rich, Mrs. Cora Thomas, George B. Stupp, Frank Stupp Jr. all of Auburn, and Mrs. Fred Maybelle of Boardman, Conn.

The funeral will be held from the First Methodist Church Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be in Fort Hill.

Frank J. Stupp was born in New York City, March 26, 1844, the son of John and Elizabeth Reeser Stupp. The father was born in the province of Bavaria, Germany, in 1816.

He came to this country when a young man, working at his trade as shoemaker in New York City. He came to Auburn about 1848 where he died in 1883, leaving his widow and one son the deceased named above.

In New York as Boy
Frank J. Stupp came to Auburn with his parents when quite young, but passed most of his boyhood days in New York City, where he was educated. In New York he enlisted at the age of 17 in Company E, Fifty-fifth New York Volunteer Infantry to aid in quelling the Rebellion.

Being a minor he was taken from the service by his father and brought to Auburn where he learned the trade of a barber.

Opening a shop of his own, he continued in business for a year and then enlisted in Company G, 111th Infantry July 16, 1862, and was sent to the Army of the Potomac. He was first at Harper's Ferry when Colonel Miles surrendered, remaining in the defense until the Spring of 1862 when they were sent to Chicago as paroled prisoners, afterward returning to the field and taking up the defense of Washington, until June of 1863.

He was with his regiment at the battle of Gettysburg where the gallant 111th rendered great service and was literally cut to pieces in that decisive engagement of the war. Mr. Stupp was wounded in that battle on July 2, 1863, and his injuries kept him from his company until the following November. He stayed with the regiment until the close

RED CROSS TEAM RALLY TONIGHT

The parlors of the Second Presbyterian Church opposite from the Red Cross headquarters has been selected as the meeting place for the captains of the Red Cross campaign this evening and it is expected that every captain, every member of the men's teams, and all those in charge of the enrolling stations will be there promptly at 8 o'clock. At this time reports will be presented, and general experiences told.

The last meetings in the county are scheduled for this evening, and there will be an important gathering in Ira. Prominent war workers in Auburn will be the speakers and will include Capt. F. S. Johnston, Miss Ethel Bonker, Lieut. Kennard Underwood and W. S. Elder. The members of the quartet of the Central Presbyterian Church will be on hand to render some vocal selections.

Another meeting for this evening is scheduled for DeGroen at 7:30. The Red Cross speaker will be Capt. B. C. Mead.

A number of instructions for Auburn people were given out this morning at Red Cross headquarters, namely: That every person who has paid his dollar membership dues, wear his button, for until Tuesday evening everyone in the city will be held up daily, who does not wear a button; also to put the service tags in the windows.

Until the close of the campaign, no wool for making knitted garments will be given out at headquarters, 13 South Street, but all completed garments will be received there. After the campaign is over, there will be regular headquarters and wool will be then distributed to those who desire it.

of the war. Among the battles in which he took part were those of the Wilderness, Spotsylvania, Cold Harbor, Petersburg and several skirmishes of lesser importance.

Promoted in Army.
During the latter part of the war Mr. Stupp was promoted to the rank of sergeant. He was at the review in Washington at the close of the war, afterward returning to Auburn where he again opened a barber shop and engaged in business in Genesee Street, employing five men.

In 1875 he accepted a position as keeper in Auburn Prison which he held until his appointment as armorer at the State Armory in State Street in 1885. He had joined the Wheeler Rifles in 1882, and held the post of armorer up until the return of Company M from the Spanish-American War.

For a few years he engaged in the coal business but failing health caused him to retire from active work. The wounds received at the battle of Gettysburg developed into cancer in later years and his sufferings for a number of years back have been terrible. He tried every known method to stay the progress of the disease and tried sanitarium after sanitarium, as well as specialists in all parts of the country without success.

Mr. Stupp was a staunch Democrat in politics. Several years ago he was just nosed out by the late Orlando Lewis for election to the office of mayor and for several years was the efficient recorder of the City of Auburn.

He was also prominent in fraternal circles. He was a past master of St. Paul's Lodge, No. 124 F. and A. M., and up to a few years ago its treasurer. He was also a member of the Chapter, Knights Templar and other higher grades in Masonry. He was an enthusiastic Macabee and under his direction the Uniform Rank Company of this city won first prizes in drill competitions from the best in the county. Cap Stupp was beloved by all the Macabees as well as the hundreds of young Auburnians who learned the rudiments of military life under him in the Wheeler Rifles, now known as Company M.

200 CONVICTS IN FINGER LAKES ROAD CAMPS STAY AT WORK UNTIL WINTER

There are about 200 convicts attached to Auburn Prison who are temporarily located in road camps in the Finger Lakes Region and as far north as the Adirondacks. None of these have been brought back to the prison as yet and they will not be until winter shuts down. One of the camps located near Constantia has been broken up and the 13 convicts employed there were transferred to the Oswego road camp yesterday.

Should cold weather set in suddenly so that further work on the highways would appear impossible until spring there will be a general influx of prisoners back to the old familiar corridors. Their places are waiting for them and their beds are ready to welcome them back when the bitter cold makes the wooden harracks in the country untenable.

Last winter was so open that there were camps going all through the cold season. It is not expected that there will be another winter like that, but none of the camps will be struck until it becomes absolutely necessary.

Funeral of Mrs. Reas.
The funeral of Mrs. Sophie Reas was held from her late home 234 Maple street yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Herman Ritter officiating, assisted by Rev. J. Bauer of Syracuse. The attendance at the service was unusually large. The bereaved were three sons of the deceased, Carl Reas, Henry Reas, Albert Reas, three sons-in-law, Hugo Brust, Albert Reas and Clayton Brodt. Burial was made in Fort Hill Cemetery in the family plot.

MERRY ROUND OF EVENTS PLANNED BY MASONIC CLUB

The Board of Directors of the Masonic Club held a business meeting last night and committees announced the arrangements that have been made for entertainment during the winter. The Committee on Arrangement has provided for a dancing and card party for members and their families only to be held some time during the first week in December in the Masonic Club rooms. There will be dancing in the big assembly room and cards and games in the club parlors.

On New Year's Eve there will be another of the elaborate dances held in the armory, the arrangements for which will be the same as the big successful party of Halloween. A nice sum was netted from that delightful social function and this will go towards the returfishing of the club rooms. Besides the big party of New Year's Eve there will be another of the same proportions Washington's Birthday. Some time in March there will be the big annual banquet.

The refreshment Committee of the club has arranged to serve lunches on Saturday nights in the club rooms for the delectation of members only. One other feature will be worked up and that is for talks and formal addresses to be given on Sunday afternoons in the club rooms. This is a new departure, but it is felt that some such provision would appeal to the members of the fraternity who like intellectual entertainment as well as the sort that appeals to the senses.

SHOE STRIKERS TO VOTE TONIGHT ON COMPROMISE

The striking employees of the Robinson-Bryon Shoe Company will vote tonight on the question of accepting or rejecting the compromise proposition submitted to them by the special committee of the Chamber of Commerce. It is understood that the proposal is acceptable to the employers and it only needs the approval of the workers to bring about a settlement.

There were 260 of the operatives who went out on strike on October 13. The cause of the walk out was claim made by the union workers that the president of the local union and refused to take him back even after arbitrators appointed in accordance with a joint agreement had decided against the company.

It is understood that this matter is taken care of in the proposal that will be laid before the workers tonight. Should the terms be accepted, it will not be possible to get all the former employees back to Auburn at once. Union officials estimate that about 100 have sought employment in other cities, many of these being women workers. The Chamber of Commerce held another meeting this morning and a number of the union workers were asked to meet with the committee. The union is at a loss to understand what this meeting is about, considering the fact that the committee made its report and ended the siting until after the union meeting tonight.

LARGE CRIST OF BUSINESS GONE OVER BY LEGION

The members of Mynderse W. Rice Post, American Legion, held a largely attended and interesting meeting last evening in the rooms of the organization in Genesee Street. A lot of business was despatched with military despatch and precision.

The thanks of the legion was tendered to Cayuga Lodge, Knights of Pythias, for action taken recommending to the War Chest a substantial apportionment of the funds to the uses of the legion.

The committee in charge of the big dance to be held at the armory Thanksgiving Eve reported most gratifying progress. The tickets will be ready for sale in patriotic and interested Auburnians on November 11, Armistice Day, and the outlook is bright for hanging out the S. R. O sign at the armory on the night of the function. Another meeting of the Dance Committee has been called for next Tuesday night to complete the final arrangements.

A letter was received from Joseph S. Hanlon, Auburn representative of the Griffith Ball and Ball Fund, reporting the collection of $80.25 from benefit baseball games and which was not forwarded to Washington, owing to the signing of the armistice. This amount was turned over to the legion and the same gratefully acknowledged.

A committee of three members was named to boom the organization in the county. Dr. N. B. Ford of Oswego, Frederick Parker of Moravia and Capt. Fred S. Johnston of this city.

Wireless Meeting Tonight.
An organization of the Y. M. C. A. Boys' Department Wireless Club will be held this evening at 8 o'clock. All Y. members and friends interested in wireless are invited to attend this meeting.

D.A.R. SPEND MORNING IN BALLOTING

Results of Election Made Known Late This Afternoon.

Intermingled with the reading of the reports from the various chapters in the state, the reports of committees, etc., the balloting on the list of officers for the coming year occupied the time of the annual session of the State Congress of D. A. R. this morning in Osborne Hall. Only delegates from qualified chapters could vote and it was stated that there were 169 entitled to votes which included 12 officers and 157 delegates.

The votes were made by chapters. The secretary, Mrs. John Francis Yawger of New York City, read the names of the chapters and as she read the list, the delegates from those chapters passed to the voting room to ballot. The balloting took place in the balcony of the hall and was continued throughout the morning.

Nominations Yesterday.
The nomination of the state officers took place yesterday afternoon and the results were only obtained after a heated debate on the pros and cons of every candidate. The only Auburnian mentioned on the list of nominations is Miss Florence M. Webster who is mentioned as member of the Executive Committee.

Two slates had been prepared, one headed by Mrs. Charles White Nash of Albany, the retiring vice regent, who has been hoping for the office for some time, and the other headed by Mrs. Samuel J. Kramer of New York. The latter slate as given to the delegates this morning consisted of the following nominations: Regent, Mrs. Kramer; vice regent, Miss Maud D. Brooks; Oleas; recording secretary, Miss Francis C. Ford; Binghamton; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. Johnson Ray of Norwich; treasurer, Mrs. Benn Conger of Ithaca; historian, Mrs. Abram D. Smith, Newark; Advisory Board, Mrs. William Langworthy, Hamilton; Mrs. Simon Baruch, New York; Mrs. Benjamin R. Washman, Hornell; Miss Alice Hart Neff, Genesee; Mrs. Alton Rockwell, Rockwell Mills; Mrs. Gilbert Scudder, Huntington.

Each state chapter was given an opportunity to report on its work, and the reports were limited to two minutes each. The position of the badges as worn by D. A. R. delegates received attention, and also the attitude of D. A. R. members while the singing of the Star Spangled Banner was discussed. There seems to have been some criticism of the manner in which women in general have conducted themselves while the national anthem was being sung.

At 12:30 this noon, the delegates and guests were entertained at a subscription luncheon in the American dining room at the Osborne House, at which time the state officers and distinguished visitors were luncheon guests.

WARNING !!

The party responsible for circulating the mendacious letters attacking the splendid character of a young woman is warned that after considering the motive and by applying the process of elimination, we have reached the conclusion that it is the work of one of three persons, and only because of our desire to save the two innocent parties the embarrassment that would result from an expose, we are taking this means of reaching the guilty one with the statement that unless each and every letter is retracted on or before November 10th and this ridiculous campaign of vilification stopped forthwith, we will, by soliciting the aid of the Post Office Secret Service and the employment of finger-print and hand-writing experts, ferret out the culprit, and use every legal influence at our command to bring about a conviction which can only result in the one convicted being sentenced to prison or an asylum.—Advertisement.
