Reception of the Returns.

The election of Town Officers in this County took place to-day. We have made arrangements to receive the returns through special messengers to-night, and the result will be announced from this office as received. Office open all night, free to the public.

M. E. Church.

The Rev. GEORGE SKENE, of Claverack, is expected to preach in the M. E. Church this evening at 7:30.

Christened.

The new tender to Rogers Steamer No. 2, was last night christened the "C. A. Dingman," in honor of ex-Foreman Dingman.

Lecture at Ghent.

Rev. J. B. Drury will lecture in the Reformed Church, at Ghent Depot, to-morrow evening. Subject: "What is the Difference?" The proceeds will be applied to the benefit of the Church.

Held for Postage.

Augustus Behrens, of this city, and Benjamin Cundall, of Catskill, will find letters in the Albany postoffice, which are held for the want of stamps.

Our Show Friends.

Duprez & Benedict's minstrels appear at Schenectady on Thursday, March 9th.

N. C. Forrester's company closed a very successful season at Quincy, Ill., on the 23d ult.

Town Meetings.

Our friends in the country are having a splendid day for their town meetings which are being held to-day. At Greenport and Claverack the election is progressing quietly, and considerable interest is being felt for the head of the tickets.

In Trouble.

A vender of brooms came to this city yesterday, and had better luck in filling his keg with whiskey than he did in selling brooms, for he was found by City Marshal PRICE "chock full." The officer took the horse to a livery stable, and the owner to jail. This morning he was allowed to depart.

Prof. Blanchard's Reception.

All those who took part in the Benefit Concert at City Hall, last Tuesday evening, are cordially invited to meet Prof. F. A. BLANCHARD, at Van Vleck's Hall, this (Tuesday) evening, at 7½ o'clock.

Presbyterian.

The Rev. JOHN MCVEY, of New Lebanon, who delivered an earnest and eloquent discourse in the Presbyterian Church last evening, has kindly consented to fill the desk at the same place this evening. The discourse of this talented young divine was listened to by a large and attentive audience last evening.

Horse Thieves at Work.

We learn that the stable of the Rev. ALONZO FLACK, of the Claverack Institute, was entered last night, and a horse, wagon and harness taken therefrom. There is no clue to the thieves, but we are inclined to the belief that the property will be returned. The officers of this city are in search of the offenders.

The River.

The ice is moving from above and the river is said to be almost clear, in fact there is nothing to impede navigation. The opening is about three weeks earlier than last year.

The Nohar, of the Power line, will leave New York to-morrow night, and the City of Hudson will probably be put upon her route on Monday next.

The breaking up has been very moderate, there being no freshet, and hardly enough snow upon the ground to cause one now.

At Columbiaville Creek the ice is badly blocked in, and will not be removed until we have a rain, except by the rays of the sun.

The ferryboats in this vicinity are making regular trips, and navigation may be said to have fairly commenced.

Arrest of a Brute.

A few days since we noticed the arrest of an Indian Doctor, named U-ta-wa-un, in Ulster county, charged with the commission of a most brutal and fiendish crime. It will be recollected that this same Indian Doctor visited this city about a year ago, and took rooms at the Gleason House. He appeared, however, to be better versed in the mysteries of "hunting the tiger" (probably acquired at a tender age, in "his native forests") than the healing art, and making loud boastings of his professional accomplishments, some of our "sporting men" took him at his word, and, to use the vernacular, effectually "cleaned him out," and the doctor was compelled to seek other and more verdant fields of operation. The Ulster Gazette gives the following particulars of his recent arrest:

"Our readers will remember that during a portion of last summer a good looking Indian, calling himself Dr. U-ta-wa-un, accompanied by a rather interesting female of that dusky race, claiming to be his wife, stopped at the Mansion House in Rondout, and sought to obtain patients upon whom to practice the healing art with nature's remedies. After a brief career in this line of business, he in accordance with his habits as a traveling healer of the ills that dash is heir to, sought "fresh fields and pastures new." From the time of his departure from here until a few days ago no act of his was of sufficient thrilling character to merit a place in local history. On the 20th inst., however, he made himself notorious, and drew upon himself the maledictions of the public by committing the dastardly crime of perpetrating a rape upon the person of Mrs. Sallie E. Walt, Westkill, Greene county, a widow lady of about fifty years of age.

U-ta-wa-un came to Westkill about one month ago, and undertook the practice of medicine. He put up at at the hotel of D. C. Deyo.

On the day above mentioned, according to Mrs. Walt's complaint, this so-called Indian doctor came to her residence, she being at the time the only inmate of the house, and then and there committed a crime which is universally regarded as the meanest and most revolting of which man can be guilty. She now lies in a critical condition. She screamed for help but no one heard her cries, and she resisted until she was overpowered and became senseless. She, however, made and swore to a complaint against the villain, and he has been arrested, and is in the custody of D. C. Deyo, who is one of the constables of said town.

The Ulster Gazette of this morning, says on examination the prosecutrix swore him guilty, and then cleared him during the same oath. The Doctor was honorably discharged by the court, amidst thunders of applause.

A Stranger's Impressions.

An observing traveler who passed a few hours in our city a short time since, gives his impressions through the columns of the Oswego Daily Press, which we can assure him would have been fully confirmed had he prolonged his stay with us. He says:

"The erroneous impression formed of cities by the view one obtains of them by passing on a railroad, is but a familiar illustration of the fallacy of judging by appearances. We arrived by train at the city of Hudson, a day or two since, perfectly disgusted at the prospect of being compelled by circumstances to spend several hours within its corporate limits. We remembered it was one of the oldest cities, in the State, having been chartered in 1785; but, from what we had seen of it, we thought it one of the dirtiest of cities. The historian had described to us its former commercial importance, and in glowing terms had painted the affecting scenes and incidents connected with the departing therefrom of a large fleet of whalers upon a long and dangerous cruise. We saw that the store houses erected by "ye ancient inhabitants" to receive whale oil, were, in these days of petroleum, being used as a receptacle for ice.

On our way to the principal street, we passed up a hill of gentle ascent, until we found ourselves at the foot of the main street which runs at right angles with the lordly Hudson, which, with the rays of the evening sun, was beautifully mantled by the ice king. Indeed, the view from this point, with the grand old Catskill Mountains as a back-ground, makes a fit subject for the easel of a Bierstadt. Never was a traveler more pleased with the beauties of Rue de Rivoli, than were we at the appearance of this Broadway of Hudson. It was so unexpected—so unlooked for. The street gradually ascending from the river, extended as far as the eye could reach. It was bordered upon either side with stores and residences indiscriminately mixed, and, like all old towns, the doors opened directly upon the street. The styles of architecture are distinct and varied, and embrace all in vogue since that first brought by the Dutch settlers from Holland. The first impressions are, how peculiarly odd, how scrupulously clean and neat. This street rivals in cleanness those of old Schenectady, whose inhabitants, through their council, made it a violation of the city ordinance to spit in the canal. As we passed up the street, we found it enlivened by the presence of many a fair maid and matron, who, in response to the bell, were hastening to early evening prayer meeting. We were surprised at the universal air of neatness which prevailed every where, among all classes, the houses and stores looking as if each occupant had just completed a protracted and most thorough siege of house cleaning.

Centrally located upon this street is the Worth House, of which Mr. C. B. MILLER is the young and gentlemanly proprietor. From the exterior this house has all the appearance of an old family mansion. As you enter you are at once impressed with the quiet and home like air which surrounds it. As a hotel it is a paragon of neatness, rivaling the Red Horse Inn at Stratford-on-Avon, which Sir Walter has made so famous. The office floor is made of thin cast iron plates a foot square with ornamented surface. These are securely screwed to a good floor previously covered with canvass saturated with white lead, and I have no doubt such a floor will last a century. Guests are requested by a printed notice not to soil the paint with their feet, and as a further precaution, disks of black walnut, with concave surface, have been placed where persons would be likely to lean their heads. The old fashioned brass door trimmings shone like gold. At the supper table the linen was immaculate, the food the best. The damson plums had the same peculiar taste of those put up by my grand-mother. I retired under a silken patchwork tick of feathers, resolved never again to judge even a city by appearance, and slept soundly, dreaming only of the pleasure of a promised fox-hunt race in the morning. Incompetent Drug Clerks.

There has been a good deal said lately about incompetent drug clerks, but the man who so nearly killed a lady in New York the other night, by giving her oxalic acid in place of some harmless medicine, was worse than incompetent. According to the telegraph, the article sent for was a Sidlitz powder, but it was more probably Epsom salts, a substance which very closely resembles oxalic acid in appearance. One might readily be mistaken for the other, but only the grossest carelessness will account for their being confounded in a drug store. No possible system of examinations, unfortunately, can guard against carelessness, but there certainly ought to be some means of punishing it; and we hope this man in New York may find that such means already exist.

Flowers.

Just now is the time to lay out plans, on paper, for out door work among the flowers this year. And there is just one thing to be avoided. Do not lay out plans on too large a scale. A few flowers, especially if they be choice ones, well cared for, are better than a wilderness of half watered, half weeded, tangled beds. Of some kinds, verbenas for instance, there should be plenty, that there may be a few in the vase on the mantel or the tea table every day. But the ambition to count up the greatest varieties of roses and tulips with less regard to their excellence is a mistake.

Charged with False Pretences.

The examination of Nathaniel Jones, of Syracuse, charged with obtaining goods from the firm of HERRICK & SON, of this city, amounting to the sum of $3,500, took place at Police Court this morning. It is alleged that Jones represented himself as one of the firm of J. G. BOWERS & Co., boot and shoe dealers of Syracuse, and that the firm was worth $70,000, and upon these grounds obtained boots and shoes of HERRICK & SON, to the amount named. After obtaining the goods the firm learned that Jones was not a member of the Syracuse firm, as he had claimed, but was a traveling agent.

Upon these grounds Justice PAYN issued a warrant, and officer LISK arrested Jones at Syracuse, and brought him to this city on the 10th of February last. He gave bail at that time for his appearance on the 7th inst.

This morning the examination was commenced at Police Court before Justice PAYN, and was progressing at the time we went to press. J. B. Longley, District Attorney, appears for the People, and H. Hoyt for the defendant.

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles further down the river is a point which I would recommend, as the temperature is more even and regular still, and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The trade in Florida is not to be trifled with, as the climate, especially in the interior, is treacherous, which I think is a good deal the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Riberia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida can be safely recommended. For consumptives in winter, the further away from the sea, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person expects to be in frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly: therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, as I use stimulating, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and from my examination in regard to taking cold. A person may take various quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the eastern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fevery small-pox, &c.! but they are not: they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days, and pay no attention to it; and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, when they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and thus advises the patient to break up a cold every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, and in some cases where there is fever use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry: I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and the establishment of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and abates, the evening chills and clammy night sweats no longer precipitate an early grave, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during this winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise in the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is not easily cured in any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured thousands of cases of consumption, in the last stages of consumption. Go where you will, you will be unable to find some poor consumptive who has been restored from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, every body should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its horrible effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If at first they produce too freely or too much, a dose of the Mandrake will correct it. If you are subject to sick headache, use none of the Mandrake, and they will relieve you in two minutes. Any one would cheerfully submit to a change of diet, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may then drink water, and eat water melons, pears, apples, plums, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being taken down by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office, No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9, A.M., to 3, P.M. Those who with a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can learn a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me. Take no counterfeits from any druggist.

JOHN G. MYERS,

Dry Goods and Upholstery,

37 North Pearl Street,

ALBANY,

The cutting down system first inaugurated at 37 North Pearl Street, has had the desired effect, and vast quantities of valuable goods have been sold at such bargains that the most skeptical persons have been convinced that money is well spent at this establishment. The result of the low prices has been, that instead of being obliged to lay away on shelves the balance of the Fall and Winter stock, it has been turned into cash, even at a sacrifice, and the money used to purchase new and valuable goods adapted to the season. Every possible advantage is now being taken of forced sales in New York, to buy up at far less than original cost the recent importations. Many of our wholesale dealers anticipating the French war would last an interminable length of time, bought largely of silks and other French manufactures which are now a drug on the market, and the depreciation has been so marked, that their eagerness to take advantage of the scarcity of these goods has almost reduced them to bankruptcy, and cash buyers are enabled to step in and take advantage of the want of foresight which characterizes these dealers. The consumers by patronizing JOHN G. MYERS will reap the profit and will feel that the attempt to gain a large profit by this monopoly on the part of New York importers, has lamentably failed. Now, then, is the time for bargains in all classes of goods, and it will be well for people to avail themselves of such an opportunity which occurs but seldom.

It will be profitable for people to remember that the Upholstery Department has revolutionized the trade in Albany. In no other store outside of New York can there be found such an extensive assortment of Shades, Cornices, Lambriquins, Lace Curtains, Reps, Tenys, Damasks, Brocatelles, Mattresses, Pillows, and in fact everything appertaining to the Upholstery business. The workmen employed in this department are the very best that can be obtained, and the execution of the many large orders for covering furniture has received the highest praise. When it is added that the Low Price System is in vogue in this department, as well as all through the Store, it will be seen that the popularity this branch of the business has obtained is readily understood.

THE FIRST MORTGAGE

7 Per Cent. Gold Bonds,

ON A COMPETED ROAD.

Free of U. S. Tax,

FOR SALE AT

90 and Accrued Interest in Currency.

Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railway.

THE completion of this Road has given to these Bonds an established character equal to any mortgage issue dealt in at the Stock Exchange. We are prepared to buy and sell them at any time, at our Banking House, at market price—thus placing them on the same basis, for temporary or permanent investment, with Governments or any other security.

These bonds are a first and only mortgage on a railroad that has cost double the amount of the issue, and which commands, without competition, all the traffic of Northern Iowa and Southern Minnesota—shortening the distance from St. Paul to Chicago 45 miles, and to St. Louis more than 90 miles.

The net earnings are already largely in excess of interest on the bonds, and no doubt exists that they will more than double within the ensuing year.

A contract has been secured with the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Company obligating the latter to invest 50 per cent. of gross earnings derived from traffic with the Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Minnesota Road in the Bonds of this Company. This arrangement is a strong guarantee of the Bonds, and establishes a large sinking fund for their redemption.

The convertibility privilege in these bonds enables them to be exchanged for stock, at par, at any time. This secures to the holder, at his option, a share in any excess of earnings over the interest obligations.

An exchange of Government securities for these bonds returns 9½ per cent. interest, instead of 5 per cent., which is all that Governments pays at present price, besides leaving an immediate gain of about 20 per cent. in price for reinvestment.

All marketable securities taken in exchange free of commission and express charges.
